

PARTICIPANT RESOURCE GUIDE: WHAT THIS PROGRAM IS (AND IS NOT)

Education Supporting Smarter Home & Financial Decisions

What This Is

This resource is provided through a partnership between Interior Essentials and your financial wellness, credit counseling, or homebuyer program. It offers education-only guidance focused on the everyday home decisions that impact long-term financial stability.

What This Is Not

- This is not financial, legal, or credit advice
- This does not replace counseling or certification programs
- This is not tied to lending or purchase decisions
- Participation is optional and independent

How to Use This Resource

- Self-paced and educational
- Designed to complement financial education
- Focused on preventing costly post-move-in mistakes
- Helps align housing decisions with financial goals

Privacy & Participation

- No personal financial information is shared
- Program staff do not monitor usage
- Participation does not affect eligibility or services

Why This Resource Exists

Financial progress is often lost through uninformed housing decisions. This education helps protect hard-earned gains by addressing how people live, not just what they earn.
