Optional Resident Education Provided Outside the Lease

What This Is

This resource is provided through a partnership between Interior Essentials and your property management team. It offers optional, education-only guidance designed to help residents prepare for move-in and everyday home responsibilities.

What This Is Not

- This is not a lease document or lease interpretation
- This is not maintenance guidance
- This does not replace property rules or policies
- This resource does not speak on behalf of management

How to Use This Resource

- Completely optional and self-directed
- Designed to support responsible home habits
- Separate from leasing and maintenance operations
- Intended to reduce confusion before issues arise

Privacy & Participation

- Property management does not track participation
- No personal or lease-related data is shared
- Using this resource does not affect tenancy

Why This Resource Exists

Many resident issues begin with a lack of preparation, not intent. This education exists to support smoother move-ins and better home habits outside the lease, without enforcement or added responsibility.
